Extravaganza ushers in the Christmas season

By VICKI BROOKER
Review Staff

Elk Point Chamber of Commerce is all set to usher in another festive season with their annual Christmas Extravaganza this Friday.

Shoppers will find some of the year's best specials in the stores, and can collect stamps on their Extravaganza passports all day and evening as they work on their Christmas lists. Filled passports will go in a draw for up to $1,000 in Elk Point Bucks to help three big winners to wrap up some extra special gifts this year.

Santa Claus is coming to town, and will visit with all his little friends at F. G. Miller High School, where they can hand in their colouring contest entries, visit the mini petting zoo and enjoy a magic show and balloon animals as well, while Mom checks out the craft show in the gym.

More fun is in store for the little ones at Elk Point Outreach School, where they can create some special crafts while Mom and Dad finish up their shopping or try their skill at the Turkey Toss at the Elk Point Curling Club.

Everyone can enjoy a ride on the tractor-drawn wagons that will tour the town on a route that stops at both schools as well as on Main Street, in Elk Point's own version of a park-and-ride.

Fundraising hot dog sales with free hot chocolate will offer quick snacks at Servus Credit Union and the Outreach School, and the big bonfire at the corner of 49 Ave. and Main Street is a great spot to visit with friends and await the big, bright fireworks finale. See you at Extravaganza!

Pee wee Avalanche rumbles over visitors

By DOUG BASSETT
Review Sports

A nasty cold weekend for traveling, but everyone bundled up in their winter attire and ventured out, because what else are we going to do in Alberta in the wintertime?

There was nothing but positive feedback from the visiting teams who had a wonderful time at our Pee wee Avalanche tournament this past weekend and on top of that, it was a super weekend for our own Pee wee Avalanche team, who won all three of their games by fairly large scores over the other three teams; Frog Lake, Pierceland, and Sherwood Park. Not enough room to list all the goal scorers, the big guns, Ross "Rosy" McGillivray, Alex Hunter, Brodin "the Bull" Ference, Tim Bushey, Brody "the Big O" Odgaard they got their share of goals, as well as some of the grinders who deserve some ink, Warren Ference, Cyle Graus, Spencer Hardcastle, Taylor Pankiw, Chad "Pickpocket" Poitras, Austin "Ozzie" Stafford and Ethan Tremblay all scoring one or more goals this past weekend.

Elk Point Pee wee Avalanche and coaches Dwayne Odgaard (right), Kevin McGillivray and Rodney Graus celebrate their victory over all three visiting teams in Elk Point's first hockey tournament of the season.

Council studies lagoon cost

By Vicki Brooker
Review Staff

Cost estimates for expansion of Elk Point's sewage lagoon were high on town council's agenda last week, with three estimates received. Contingency costs were seen as "a huge factor" by Coun. Dwayne Yaremkovich. Coun. Ron Fraess emphasized the importance of including an apron that would slow down the circulation to allow more time for settling, which has been an ongoing problem with the current lagoon design.

Some $180,000 in Municipal Sustainability Initiative funds carried over from the previous year will make a good start on funding for the project, with town manager Myron Goyan asked to prepare a spreadsheet showing a total financial breakdown on the project for council's next meeting.

Solar lighting suffers setback

The solar lighting project for 54 Street south of Railway Ave. has ground to a screeching halt, with Mayor Parrish Tung advised by ATCO Electric that the lights could not be located there, due to the proximity to the power line.

"All along, we assumed there was no problem," he noted.

The mayor has now asked that ATCO install regular streetlights along that stretch of road, with that project now slated for next summer. ATCO is exploring the use of LED for both that area and as a replacement for the town's existing street lights, as an energy-saving initiative. Their engineer has been asked to attend the next council meeting.

The initial purchase cost of LED is higher, but would be recouped over time by the reduced power use. It is possible that Elk Point could be a test community for LED street lighting.

The solar lights, which have now been delivered, will be used to light the new walking trail along 50 Ave.

Inter-municipal Plan

Coun. Fraess reported that the County of St. Paul and the town both seem to be in agreement with the proposed Inter-municipal Plan, "and the landowners were pretty much in agreement. They didn't see any downside."

Mayor Tung noted that a new zoning bylaw might be necessary to accommodate the larger acreages that are part of the plan.

"It's not without problems," Goyan agreed.

An open house for landowners and the councils is slated for Jan. 12, with a joint council briefing on the final document a week later. "There will be a lot of chances for change," Goyan said. "It's not a cut-and-dried kind of thing."

Extravaganza

Council agreed to donate $500 toward the chamber of commerce Christmas Extravaganza.

Alberta Hub

Northeast Alberta Hub is looking at an increase in member funding from 20 cents to 50 cents per capita for the next two years, which would qualify Hub for a matching provincial grant of up to $75,000. Council agreed to the increase, effective April 2012.

Re-energized Rural Crime Watch meets in Elk Point

By VICKI BROOKER
Review Staff

The recently rejuvenated Greater Lakeland Rural Crime Watch Association was planning for two upcoming annual meetings when they met in Elk Point last week.

For the first time in a number of years, the local group is planning to send delegates to the Alberta Rural Crime Watch annual general meeting. The 2012 AGM is slated for Feb. 10 and 11 in Cochrane.

Greater Lakeland president Steve Kohl said he has found past annual meetings "quite informative," with resolutions ranging from a request that owners' names be displayed on horse and livestock trailers to an ongoing quest to bring back front license plates. Each rural crime watch association has one vote at the meeting, although all members are eligible to attend. The deadline for registration is Jan. 31.

Greater Lakeland's own AGM is coming up Jan. 19 in St. Paul and is also open to all members. Those members have increased substantially in numbers in the past year, after a meeting in Elk Point last June and displays at Elk Point Canada Day and Elk Point FCSS Information Night where members distributed information and sold memberships. The telephone fan-out system and newspaper advertising will remind members that the AGM is coming up, and will give further details on the event.

Kohl reported that he is ordering both rectangular and square Rural Crime Watch signs, along with decals. County of St. Paul Coun. Dwight Dach volunteered to ask county council if it is permissible to attach the signs to the posts holding the rural address signs. It was noted that some of the highway signs designating the county as a Rural Crime Watch area also need replacing.

Kohl says the group has a supply of Greater Lakeland Rural Crime Watch license plates and Report a Poacher license plates available for purchase.

Guest speaker at last week's meeting was Leslie Keith from the law library at the St. Paul Provincial Courthouse. She handed out a recently completed brochure which introduces the public to the wealth of information to be found in the library, which provides access to a collection of over 200,000 volumes province-wide, 15,000 locally, along with personal assistance to guide the patron in a search for reliable sources of legal information. Workstations provide access to online legal research tools, many of which are also available on home computers via the websites listed on the brochure.

The Law Library of Alberta also has its own website, which is found at www.lawlibrary.ab.ca, which has links to the library catalogue, court decisions, legislation, government information at local, provincial and national levels and research guides on numerous topics, along with an 'Ask a Question' form to assist users to find the information they require.

Keith demonstrated the use of the website to bring up information on trespass law and defense of the home, showing the ease with which information can be accessed.

Remember November

By TIA DORE

Grade 7, F. G. Miller High School

Remembering is something everyone should do, it is a word that everyone should love and cherish. It doesn't matter if you remember the good times or the bad, you should remember the soldiers who fought for peace and remember the terrible pain they and their families must have endured. But we cannot just remember the combat soldiers; we have to remember the nurses and doctors that assisted them in their recovery, the cooks that refueled them each and every day, the people that trained them to be so loyal and brave as well as their friends and loved ones who sent letters to make them smile once again.

It is amazing how total strangers came together in the heat of battle, to become friends in order to protect their country, families, friends and beliefs.

When people set their minds to something they can achieve greatness, and those brave soldiers achieved incredible things. They gave everything they had to protect the future of their country, make sure their children and everyone else's have a safe, free beautiful country to grow up in.

The next time you or anyone else remembers what a horrible time war must have been, you can think to yourself how they were willing to sacrifice everything they had for you. And that is why people today wear poppies, because it is a sign that they remember November.

WAY BACK WHEN...

Shortfall, promises

HERE'S THE NEWS THAT MADE THE HEADLINES OF THE LAKELAND REVIEW AND THE ELK POINT REVIEW FOR THE WEEK OF NOV. 22 IN...

1986

Far from Flanders Field, Elk Point residents shivered around the cenotaph on a cold but sunny Remembrance Day as they laid wreaths in memory of those who served our country in the World Wars and Korean conflict. MLA John Drobot visited the new town council, delivering a $258,095 cheque to Mayor Byron Mann, the third installment on the water and sewer upgrading program.

1991

Elk Point Agricultural Society bared the bottom line on ambitious projects that left them with a major shortfall of $304,217 on the arena expansion, $86,556 on the riding arena and $18,809 on the tennis court, grand total of over $400,000 to be raised. Northern Lights Library System purchased the former Mark's Work Warehouse building for their headquarters, which even with renovations would cost less than a third of the anticipated cost of a new building.

1996

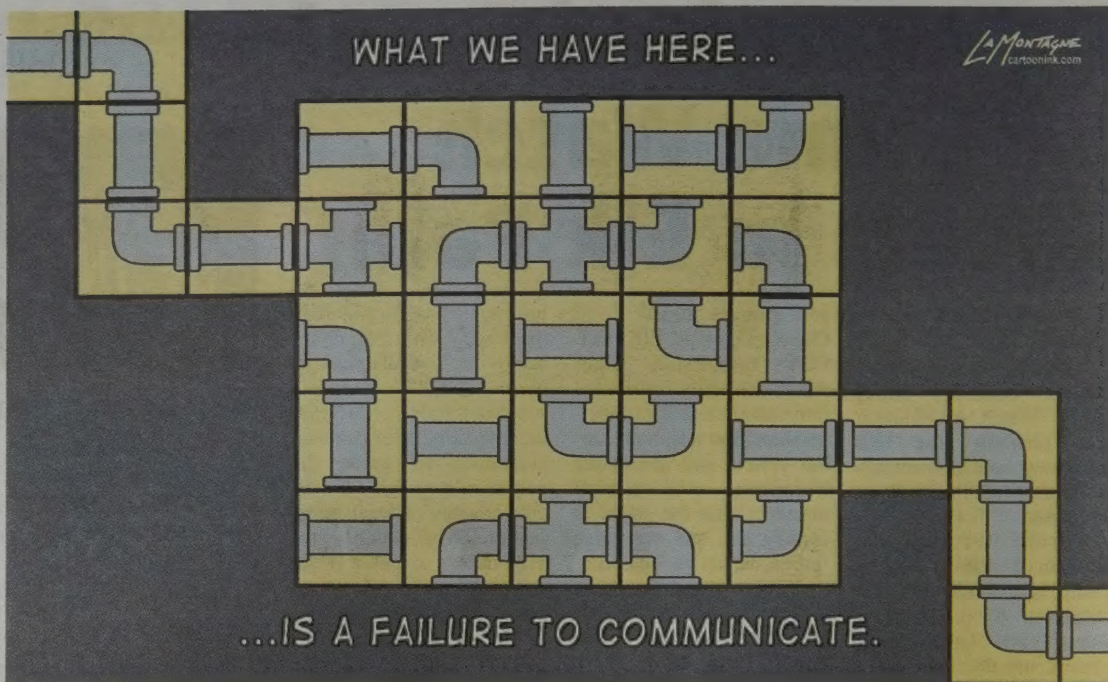

MP Deborah Grey made a hometown stop in Heinsburg during her fall constituency tour, and said that wherever riding she might run in, "This will always be home." Owners and occupants of any premises in Elk Point adjoining a sidewalk would face a $50 fine if they did not remove snow from that sidewalk within 48 hours after a snowfall, after town council agreed that a crackdown was necessary.

2001

Town council's election promises to do something for the community's youth were already being realized, with their approval of an 80x160 foot outdoor skating rink north of the arena. Crusaders International stacked up an even 100 shoeboxes of gifts for Operation Christmas Child.

2006

A new aspect was added to Remembrance Day observances, as a speaker from CFB Wainwright spoke of the ongoing conflicts in which Canadian forces are involved. Additional street lights were under consideration by council as a way to address safety concerns.

GUEST COLUMN

Kindness felt

How often can we talk about November being Family Violence Prevention Month? Well, if repetition is the key, then I guess we can talk about it each week in November – right! Oh my, oh my!

With that in mind, let me start with a story. This story is about Louis C. Jacobsen.

Thomas S. Monson tells the story. "One day while in a reflective mood, Louis Jacobsen told me of his boyhood. He was the son of a poor Danish widow. He was small in stature, not comely in appearance – easily the object of his classmates' thoughtless jokes. In Sunday School one Sabbath morning, the children made light of his patched trousers and his worn shirt. Too proud to cry, tiny Louis fled from the chapel, stopping at last, out of breath, to sit and rest on the curb that ran along Third West Street in Salt Lake City. Clear water flowed along the gutter next to the curb where Louis sat. From his pocket he took a piece of paper that contained the outlined Sunday School lesson and skillfully shaped a paper boat, which he launched on the flowing water. From his hurt boyish heart came the determined words, "I'll never go back." Suddenly, through his tears Louis saw reflected in the water the image of a large and well-dressed man. Louis turned his face upward and recognized George Burbidge, the Sunday School superintendent.

"May I sit down with you?" asked the kind leader. Louis nodded affirmatively. There on the gutter's curb sat a Good Samaritan ministering to one who surely was in need. Several boats were formed and launched while the conversation continued. At last the leader stood and, with a boy's hand tightly clutching his, they returned to Sunday School. Later Louis himself presided over the same Sunday School. Throughout his long life of service, he never failed to acknowledge the traveler who rescued him along a Jericho Road."

I realized this story was about a young boy who was hurt by other children his same age, but this story could have had a different ending. The boy could have gone home, stating to his parents he wasn't going back to church any more. The question now becomes, "How would the parents handle this situation?" There are many possibilities. One possibility is that Louis' parents could have involved other parents. Wait a minute! You're probably saying, what about the church? Kindness needs to be taught there and the Sunday School superintendent did a good job. O.K., I can accept that, but what about kindness being taught in the home? Let me tell another story.

Ed Pinegar was teaching high school in 1966. "We were covering the subject of love and expressing love. The students all seemed to be anxiously engaged in the conversation of the day. I got the idea of asking for a volunteer to do a special homework assignment. I stopped the class and said, "Who will do me a favor?" The hands all flew up. A young boy near the back of the room named Dennis seemed quite anxious. I called him up to the front and I said, "Dennis, do you really want to do this favor for me?"

He said, "Sure!"

I said to him, "This is really hard."

He said, "I can do it!"

I said, "Are you sure you can do it?"

In exasperation he said, "I'll do it. Just what do you want me to do?"

I said, "This is it. When you go home tonight, you call out for your mother. When your mother comes to you, you take her in your arms and give her a big embrace. Yes, Dennis, a big kiss. And then you whisper in her ear, 'Oh, Mom, I love you.'"

He stopped, looked at me, and said, "No way! No way can I do that."

I said, "Dennis, do you love your mother?"

"Of course I do."

I said, "Then why won't you do it?"

He replied, "You just don't do things like that."

I said, "Dennis, if you love her, you should tell her."

"No way!"

The story goes on and the next day, Dennis was asked to give a report of what happened. "Dennis came up in front, but something was different. His lips began to quiver, and his eyes began to fill up with tears, then he blurted out. "Oh, you guys, it was the greatest day of my life. My mom cried for two hours. I can't believe it." They all laughed. Then he said, "You don't realize what we've done to our parents. We've locked them out of our lives. They've done everything for us, and we treat them like dirt. We should be ashamed. They're starved for our love just like we've starved for their love. But you've gotta say it. You've gotta tell 'em."

Yes this story took place in the '60s, but a strong point was made. Kindness shown in families and telling parents they are loved is strongly felt.

Quarter century for home business

By VICKI BROOKER
Review Staff

One of Elk Point's oldest home-based businesses marked a major milestone on Nov. 13, as Melanie McRae celebrated with a lunch and open house of her Avon customers, 19 of whom have been with her since she started her dealership on Oct. 29, 1986, soon after moving to Elk Point from Westlock, where she had been an Avon dealer for eight years.

McRae shares her milestone with Avon Company for Women, which is celebrating 125 years of growth this year.

When McRae joined the Avon sisterhood, "It was mostly personal care products, perfumes and nickel-free jewelry," and each representative had a specified territory, a maximum of 100 to 125 homes. The territories are now wide open, and the merchandise has expanded to giftables, clothing and CDs. The biggest changes, she said, have been the size of the catalogues and the ability to order online.

Area manager Nettie Ninowski praised McRae's efforts, and presented her with 25 long-stemmed red roses, a gold Avon necklace and an etched diamond signifying that she is part of Avon's Diamond Division.

THANK YOU

Thank you to all my AVON friends who attended the 25th Anniversary Celebration on Sunday, November 13, 2011.

Many thanks for the lovely cards and gifts. Thank you Bernice Batdorf for shopping with me and for preparing and looking after the "Great Luncheon!" Thank you Mary Bepalko for making the cabbage rolls and Wendy Yarmuch for preparing the Nalyshka (cornmeal). Thank you Sylvia Boothman and Myra Bochon for doing all the decorating including the lovely center pieces and helping with the clean-up. Thank you Dianne LaCerte for your assistance in the kitchen and serving the lunch. Thank you Orest & Myrna Fedorus, Kelly and Marilyn Fordice, Sylvia, Myra, Bernice, Renee and Pyper for all the clean-up duties. Thank you Leonard for picking up the buns. To Doris Sayshka and Vicki Brooker, thank you for the great memorable pictures and Vicki for the hot loaves. Special thanks to my Manager, Nettie Ninowski, who braved the roads from St. Albert to attend. Your presence to help host this event, meant a lot to me! Thank you for the beautiful Avon display you set up and took down. Many thanks for the 25 red roses, the etched Diamond, representing our "Diamond Division" and the lovely gold Avon necklace. To my daughter Renee and granddaughter Pyper (2-1/2) and cat Domino, for travelling from Red Deer to attend! Thank you for scrubbing and cutting vegetables and fruits which Pyper had a blast doing! She also enjoyed ringing that bell and pulling all the names for the draws. Renee worked like a beaver, packing and toting and cleaning. Oh, to be so young!

To anyone I may have missed, my apologies. You all made my Anniversary VERY, VERY special to me! Thank you everyone.

Breast cancer screening

BY ALBERTA HEALTH SERVICES

A screening mammogram is a special X-ray of your breast. Once you're over 50 it is the most effective way to find breast cancer early. Screening mammograms can detect breast cancer when it is very small, two to three years before you or your physician can feel it. The earlier breast cancer is found the more effective treatment can be.

Screen Test is a mammography service within Alberta Health Services. Screen Test provides screening mammograms at permanent clinics in Edmonton and Calgary and two mobile screening trailers provide services to women in about 100 communities in rural Alberta. Screen Test provides high quality screening mammography and breast health education.

Is it time for your mammogram? Screen Test will be in Elk Point on Dec. 9, 10 and 11. Call 1-800-667-0604 for your appointment.

Avalanche rumbles

And of course all the players with assists that I did not list, but let's not forget the guy behind the mask, goalie Garret McGillivray who has been outstanding all season. The skills competition held on Saturday was a huge success with teams cheering on their teammates as they competed in the fastest skater, a shoot out and also an accuracy shooting competition, Pierceland winning the Boston Pizza $200 gift certificate. Hats off to the coaches, managers and parents for doing an excellent job!

Over in Two Hills, the Micro Novice and Novice Avalanche both had terrific games. Scoring for the Micro Novice, a couple each for "King Kong Konner" Poitras and Jager Fontaine. Singles for Josef Theriault, Nick Penner, Dean "the Machine" Ockerman, Grace Peebles and Brady Hymanyk with his second of the year. Everyone took a turn in net and played awesome.

The Novice with a 7 to 1 win over Two Hills, Slater Hardcastle and Charlie "Little Angel" Rogal with two each, Jace Stafford, Luke "Skywalker" Poulin and Evan Ockerman also scoring, Jenna "Precious" Poitras and Odin Smith helping out on the score sheet with assists, Ronan "Radar" Poulin between the posts.

On Sunday the Novice played in Bonnyville coming up with another win, this one 9 to 6 in favor of the Avalanche. "Little Angel", "Radar" and "Skywalker" with two each, Kaden "Sniper" Allen and "Danny Boy" Cardinal adding one each; and Jenna "Precious" Poitras buried her first of the season assisted by Odin Smith.

The Atom B team players all played really well as a team and everyone contributed this past weekend, in Bonnyville on Saturday "Sam I Am" Henderson and his sister Paige scoring, Erin Duffee in net for this one. On Sunday in Cold Lake, Paige Henderson notching another goal, Parker "the Michelin Man" Allen was busy with the goaltending assignment.

The Atom Tier 1 team played in a very rough game in Kitscoty on Sunday, taking another one on the chin.

And now for the K.A.Campbell quote of the week: "This kid can't even shave and we're depending on him to save our necks." Last week's answer to: "It was such a trouncing that during a 1994 playoff game, half the fans in the Gardens had filed out and were enjoying the city's other favorite form of entertainment - watching the traffic lights change." -Scott Ostler.
